On the unsuitability of Lord Thomas to act as judge for the Brexit lawsuit and the relationship between Gina Miller and Deutsche Bank

Dear Sirs,

I read today that Gina Miller is to lead a challenge against Brexit in the High Court, which is to be sat by three judges Sir Terence Etherton, Lord Thomas and Lord Justice Sales. The news article comes on the same day that the ICO forced the MoJ to disclose that Lord Ian Burnett of the Court of Appeal closed an appeal B40BM021 without having a transcript of hearing. This is a critical disclosure, because Lord Thomas was challenged on five separate emails to assert the status of the transcript and he stonewalled each time. I attach a letter to the Lord Chancellor which clarifies these matters.

The effect of the Court of Appeal's procrastination and malfeasance was to protect Deutsche Bank from having to admit to gold price manipulation and money laundering. Had the British public been informed that Deutsche Bank had been ripping off British investors, and buying immunity by transferring $10 billion of Russian Mafia money to London, the Brexit result could well have tilted from the marginal to the overwhelming. The Lord Chief Justice and his corrupt cronies were playing EU politics by effectively suspending the rule of Law and holding the CPR rules in contempt. We of the British public do not pay taxes for the courts to act as lobbyist for political causes.

Now in my investigations against the courts for corruption, I discovered that Marie Bancroft Rimmer, a judge at the Court of Appeal was lobbying to have Nigel Farage prosecuted for his Brexit campaign poster. The evidence came from Ms Bancroft Rimmer's Facebook page and the image was posted to JACO by email. The ombudsman, Paul Kernaghan, has stonewalled the complaint. Neither he nor Ms Bancroft Rimmer denied the validity of the image, nor that she could not act as judge and prosecutor. He in in contempt of office for violating the basic duties of his office.

It appears to me that there is systemic corruption in the courts – that the Lord Chief Justice has surrounded himself with miscreants – and they have been given license by JACO to act with impunity.

On the Attorney General's Weakened Position

I have also mailed the House of Commons Treasury Committee with the paper trail that shows that the FCA and the SFO covered up Deutsche Bank's fake gold manipulation audit. It appears to me that Rt Hon Jeremy Wright has not followed up the letter and challenged the FCA and the SFO for potentially misleading Parliament. Can he properly contest the validity of the Brexit campaign if he has not done his job and expose the abuse of European citizens by the European banking system?

In my lawsuit, that Ian Burnett whitewashed, as proven by the MoJ disclosure to the ICO, I referred to a news report that showed that the ECB transferred gold bullion into the Comex on the day that Deutsche Bank were liable for physical delivery. With Deutsche Bank having now confessed to precious metal price manipulation in a New York lawsuit, the inference that the ECB colluded with Deutsche Bank to effect systematic manipulation is highly credible. In order to put this inference to the court the Attorney General must first admit that gold price manipulation took place, and for this he must admit that the FCA and the SFO misled Parliament. By not doing his job he castrates his own position.

Gina Miller and Deutsche Bank

Gina Miller, the sore remainder, seems to have founded SCM private, which liaises with Deutsche Bank on a number of financial projects. Given the fraudulent insolvent bank is a backbone of her business, is it any wonder she is litigating for an EU when the ECB keeps on bailing out her partner?

The lawsuit is unlawful

There was nothing in the referendum that mentioned a court of law second guessing the electorate. In the case that the exit campaign to lose, would we now be allowing the same courts to expel us from the EU? With the legal system patently undermined by the banking system, whose frauds it has conspired to hide, it has no credibility.

Yours sincerely
Mark Anthony Taylor
